By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Two air raid warnings sent the population of London to shelters on the first anniversary of the war today as large forces of German bombers and fighters struggled to penetrate the defenses of the capital.

In the first alarm, which sounded at 10:22 a. m. and lasted until 11:37 a. m., heavy Nazi bomber and fighter contingents made at least three main thrusts against London after crossing the southeast coast. A terrific combat resulted when Royal air force planes went aloft to engage the attackers and beat them back before they could reach London.

The first warning failed to upset normal activities in the British capital. The second alarm of the day and the 38th since hostilities began sounded at 2:50 p. m.

Knickerbocker Tells Results Of German Attacks After Tour Of British Bomb-Battered Ports

(Editor's Note: H. R. Knickerbocker, International News Service's ace roving foreign correspondent, has just completed a 48-hour tour of British bomb-battered ports along the southeast coast. In the following dispatch, cabled from London, Knickerbocker vividly describes conditions in the cities that are receiving the brunt of the German aerial onslaught.)

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Great Britain is bleeding but unbowed.

Chancellor Hitler's vicious air attacks on the southeast coast have been going on now three weeks and the German press boasts that Marshal Goering's luftwaffe has utterly destroyed most of the cities and ports along this stretch of shore.

The fate of this island, and the ultimate decision of the war, depends whether or not enough destruction has been wrought in order to effect a total blockade.

Makes Personal Visit

During the last 48 hours, I have personally visited every port from Margate to Portsmouth, interviewed local police, airraid wardens, and citizens, and obtained a complete panorama of conditions in this most severely assaulted part of England.

The summarized findings are that Britain has endured the worst airraids in history—with the sole exception of Rotterdam—but that only 150 persons have been killed and less than 500 injured in eight principal cities and ports on the southeast coast after three weeks of the fiercest aerial pounding.

Approximately 1,600 houses, 90 per cent of which are the homes of workers and small shop keepers, have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair. The harm done to military objectives, docks, and harbor facilities is astonishingly small.

Ports Function

The principal ports continue to function despite German boasts they have knocked out Portsmouth and Southampton.

Nearly all the damage done along this coast has been done by day raiders and, in turn, 90 per cent of their shots seem unaimed and indiscriminate. The effect on the population has been to enrage and embitter them and this war, which be-

Bucharest Gets Berlin Protest

Riotous Incident And Trampling Of Hitler's Picture Brings Protest

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, Sept. 3.—The German government lodged a sharp protest with Bucharest today over a riotous incident at Brasov in which the German consulate was attacked and a picture of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler trampled under foot.

The incident occurred during a series of demonstrations against the Rome-Berlin axis award of half of Transylvania to Hungary.

The German and Italian legations in Bucharest meanwhile remained surrounded by heavy protective forces of Rumanian troops armed with machine guns Hungarian forces are being concentrated on this side of the frontier to begin occupation of Transylvania on Thursday.

Reports in Budapest said strong measures were being taken by the Rumanian government to put an end to demonstrations against the Transylvania settlement. Police arrested 280 members of the Fascist iron guard who attempted to organize resistance.

Meanwhile, Rumanian civilians from Transylvania were reported pouring into Bucharest. Rumanian police have evacuated many Transylvanian towns to make way for the Hungarian occupational forces.

Man Is Killed Along Railroad

Coal Picker Struck By Pennsylvania Passenger Train Near Garbage Plant

WAS CONFUSED BY PASSING TRAINS

Giovanni Mastropietro, aged 49, of Harbor street, better known as John Pietro, was instantly killed shortly after 7 o'clock Monday evening, when he is believed to have been struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train, traveling west bound, as he was picking coal along the railroad right-of-way near the garbage plant just off Sampson street.

Mastropietro's body, still warm, was discovered about 7:30 o'clock by Lester Duffin, 17 S. Cochran street. Duffin was returning home from a fishing trip up the Shenango river. He notified city police, who in turn summoned Coroner T. F. Nugent.

Coroner Nugent's investigation revealed that Mastropietro had been accustomed to picking coal along the railroad tracks during the evening. He was informed by Pennsylvania railroad officials that a freight train, traveling east bound from Erie, and the passenger train had passed this spot shortly after 7 o'clock, and it is believed Mastropietro became confused and was struck by the passenger train. He seemed to have been struck on the back of the head by some projection on the side of the locomotive, as he raised up from alongside the track. The coal was only partly spilled from the basket he was carrying.

Giovanni Mastropietro was born in Italy on March 15, 1891. He had been a steelworker in the maintenance department of the steel mill

Among them will be organization guidance work, vocational industrial education and two levels of achievement in senior high school work.

Citizenship education will be especially stressed this year Dr. Green told the teachers. In this respect he said "sentimental optimism is out."

Robert A. Duff directed some special musical numbers. The general session lasted for approximately an hour. The group meetings are being held this afternoon.

Flood Causes Huge Loss In New Jersey

(International News Service)

MILLVILLE, N. J. Sept. 3.—Faced with disaster all through the night, this busy factory town prayed with renewed hope today as the 73-year-old concrete dam at Union Lake withstood the peak pressure of the rampaging Maurice river.

Flood tide from the Sunday cloudburst which caused more than $5,000,000 damage and left 10,000 homeless throughout southern New Jersey was reached early today. Then, slowly but steadily the flow of water over the dam receded. At dawn the water had dropped four inches.

During the hours of peril to this community of 18,000, eight state troopers stood guard with rocket flares atop the dam, which rises 80 feet from its base and holds back 6,000,000,000 gallons of water. At the first sign of a break, the troopers

Roosevelt Tells Congress, Deal Now Complete

President Says Move Is Most Important To U. S. Defense In Many Years

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—President Roosevelt today advised congress that he had completed negotiations with Great Britain whereby the United States acquires air and naval base rights on British western hemisphere possessions in exchange for 50 over-age U. S. destroyers.

Under the agreement reached, Mr. Roosevelt said in a special message, this country is given 99-year leases on base sites in the following British possessions:

Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, Antigua and British Guiana.

The rights to bases in Newfoundland and Bermuda, Mr. Roosevelt said, were outright gifts, the balance in exchange for destroyers.

Get Destroyers At Once

Although it was not made clear in the communication, Great Britain presumably will receive the 50 over-age destroyers immediately.

Attached to the message to congress was a lengthy legal opinion by Attorney-General Jackson holding that congressional action would not be necessary to make the Anglo-American deal binding.

Mr. Roosevelt's history-making message was only five paragraphs long.

In it the president characterized the agreement as "the most important action in the reinforcement of our national defense that has been taken since the Louisiana purchase."

Correspondence Attached

Attached to Mr. Roosevelt's message were copies of official correspondence between Secretary of State Hull and British Ambassador Lord Lothian which led to the promulgation of the agreement which will vastly strengthen defenses of the United States in the north and

"Yesterday our bombers and pursuit planes attacked airports in southern England. Hangars and barracks were destroyed and partly set on fire by bomb hits at Hornchurch, Grovesend, Eastchurch and Detling.

"The attacks resulted in a number of air combats which resulted in victories for us.

"Bombers during the night attacked docks and piers on the English south and west coasts, armament works in middle England and airports.

HARRY ALEXANDER DIES SUDDENLY

Ry. In 1900, when the WNY&P was absorbed by the Pennsylvania Mr. Alexander was made freight agent of the Pennsylvania here. In this position he served until April 1930 when he was retired.

In his capacity as freight agent he came in contact with the public constantly and hundreds who got to know him in a business way learned to respect him as a friend. During the World War when the railroads were consolidated he was the freight agent for all the roads running in and out of New Castle.

Headed Red Cross

His ability to organize and coordinate the work of many people was used in a fine way during the World War in behalf of the American Red Cross. He was the chairman of the Lawrence county chapter and gave unstintingly of his time and energies in order that the work of the organization might be advanced. He continued as chairman for several years after the war and if there were no other monument for Harry Alexander, his work for the Red Cross during the war years and after would be sufficient.

In 1899 he became a member of the B. P. O. Elks and served through the various chairs including that of Exalted Ruler. In 1918 he was made an honorary life member. For the past thirty years he had been a trustee of the Elks. He served as president of the Past Exalted Rulers' Association for a term and never flagged in his interest in the organization and its works. He epitomized the virtues of the order to which he belonged.

One Of Fair Founders

Mr. Alexander's hobby was fine horses. For many years he owned blooded horses in Kentucky, many of them victors in races at Lexington. He was one of the founders of the New Castle Fair and for many years served the association.

His wife preceded him in death about three years ago. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ida Walters of Harbor Bridge.

Harry Alexander was a man of many friends. In his kindly way he filled a niche in this community that will be hard to fill.

Funeral services will be from the home on Leasure avenue, Wednesday afternoon, September 4, at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. Norris A. White in charge. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

NAZI RAIDERS BEATEN BACK FROM LONDON

thus far in today's attacks. Fifteen British planes were lost but the pilots of eight of them are safe.

In the first raid of the day, it was estimated that 300 German fighters and bombers, in formations ranging from eight to forty, were used.

The "all clear" in the second raid sounded at 4:06 p. m. (11:06 a. m. EDT) after the raid had been in progress for one hour and 16 minutes.

The second alarm proceeded without incident. No German planes were visible over the capital but at one time a heavy formation of British fighters passed over at a tremendous height.

Seek To Reach London

It was generally assumed the Germans were employing their usual tactics of attempting to break through London's defenses from the east.

An air ministry communique announcing the attacks said:

"Enemy aircraft in considerable numbers crossed the southeast coast this morning.

"Preliminary reports indicate that a few bombs were dropped in Kent and Essex. Little damage appears to have been caused, and a few casualties have been reported, several of which were fatal.

"Twenty-three German planes are known to have been shot down today. Fifteen of our planes are missing, but the pilots of eight are safe.

"Final reports of yesterday's action show that 20 of our aircraft were lost, of which ten pilots were saved."

Use 500 Planes

Shortly before the second alarm, residents of one London district heard the drone of a considerable number of German bombers flying high. The rattle of machine-gun fire was heard in the distance.

Unofficial but conservative estimates said that the Germans used at least 500 planes in scattered raids in the southeast, southwest and other areas. These estimates placed the number of downed Nazi planes at 35.

After the "all clear" in the second raid had sounded, reports from outlying areas of the capital said that the drone of bombers, the roar of anti-aircraft and the battle of machine-gun fire had been heard in three separate districts.

In the Great Smoky Mountains, as elsewhere in the eastern United States, wild life has suffered some degree of persecution at the hands of the white man. In this area, however, the faunal picture of today more nearly resembles that of pre-pioneer times than it does in any other region east of the Mississippi.

FLOOD CAUSES HUGE LOSS IN NEW JERSEY

planned to signal the populace, hundreds of whom had spent the night moving their possessions to higher ground.

Waters Receding

Before receding, the water in Union Lake reached 42 inches above flood stage, while the glutted Maurice river flooded low sections of Millville and threatened key woolen, rubber, power and cork plants of this industrial community.

Adding to the danger and making it double-edged was the possibility that the dam at Malaga Lake, which feeds Union Lake from 15 miles to the north might not hold.

"We're now betting our all on the stability of Malaga Dam," commented Mayor A. M. La Dow. "If it goes, it's hard to tell what will happen here, but we're hoping it won't. There now seems to be a good chance that Union Dam will hold if no additional pressure is thrown against it."

Series Of Floods

Millville's peril came as a climax to the series of far-flung floods which struck six southern New Jersey counties over the Labor Day week-end. But with amazing vitality, the area today was fighting its way through the destruction and was rapidly approaching normalcy.

And in the midst of it all, a weather-harassed army of 500,000 holiday vacationers struggled home from New Jersey's seashore resorts in delayed trains and over highway detours. With sections of the three mean highway links between Philadelphia and shore points washed out, buses and private automobiles took the brunt of delays. The railroads make a remarkable comeback by sending all available emergency crews to places where bridges and roadbeds had been washed out.

Throughout the flood-ravaged area, groups of men and women were working, valiantly, to rescue, reclaim and rehabilitate. Thousands of laborers of the WPA were transferred from regular projects to the trouble areas.

Staggering Loss

Meanwhile, deep waters continued to swirl through homes in Lumberton last night, while in a score of other communities the lower floors of many homes and business establishments still were ankle deep in muck.

Back at their homes, or what is left of them, the 10,000 refugees today faced a staggering bill—$5,000,000 to $7,000,000 in damage to farms, roads and dwellings. And in addition, farmers reported that whole fields of potatoes, tomatoes and corn had been washed away by rampaging streams. The cloudburst also played havoc with the peach crop, hammering thousands of trees bare of fruit.

The death toll today remained at four, all of whom drowned during the first few hours of Sunday's torrential downpour. Numerous communities still were lacking gas, water and sewer service and residents were warned to boil all water to guard against an epidemic.

PRESIDENT IS RETURNING TO WHITE HOUSE

chief executive, having made an urgent appeal for preparedness "in a thousand ways" to offset threats from home and abroad, was about to make known another concrete move in his defense program.

There was reason to believe that England and this government had virtually consummated the negotiations begun some weeks back whereby the United States stands to extend its defense to vital air and naval bases in the Western Hemisphere, presumably on Bermuda, Nova Scotia, New Foundland, Jamaica and Trinidad.

In the Great Smoky Mountains National Park yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt gave a definite hint that the defense agreement with Britain was about ready for announcement.

"New bases must be established to enable our fleet to defend our shores," read the prepared text of the president's Labor Day speech. He interpolated the phrase—"and I think they will be established."

Word came from Bermuda recently that the legislative body of that island was agreeable to a lease on such land and harbor properties as the United States navy and air corps might deem essential to adequate defense of the Western Hemisphere—and the Panama Canal in particular.

HOUSE PREPARES FOR CONSCRIPTION DEBATE

debate to two days and block consideration of the industrial draft amendment unless approved by the Military Affairs committee.

Administration leaders were confident that they hold the upperhand in the bitter fight over conscription. They expect to push a bill to passage by Friday night.

Rep. Brooks (D) La., planned to set off the fireworks in a secret meeting of the House Military Affairs committee by offering as an amendment to the house bill the Overton - Russell draft - industry amendment approved by the senate.

Under this proposal, the president is authorized to condemn an industrial plant whenever the secretaries of war and navy fail to reach an agreement with owners for its use.

Rep. Smith (D) Conn., plans then to offer a modifying provision, which adapts the language of the 1916 national defense act to the conscription of industry.

Amendment Planned

The Smith amendment would permit the president to commandeer an industrial plant, paying for its use, if the army and navy cannot agree on a contract. The power would be limited to the life of the draft act.

While the Smith amendment is broad, it would, he said, make it plain that the government could not take over press, radio or any "facility" not actually connected with national defense.

Because of Republican presidential nominee Wendell Willkie's denunciation of the draft-industry proposal as a first step toward dictatorship, the issue overshadowed other provisions of the conscription bill.

Chairman May (D) Ky., of the Military Affairs committee, opposed the industry draft proposal.

"I think the president now has the power," said May. "The national defense act says he can take over a plant during war or imminence of war. If war is not imminent, why are we calling out the national guard, enacting a draft bill, and spending $15,000,000,000?"

Administration Leaders Favor

Administration leaders, after at first considering a fight against the conscription of industry proposal on the ground that it might frighten the country, appeared to be swinging over to it.

"I favor the basic principle of the Overton-Russell amendment," said Speaker Bankhead. He conferred with several members of the Military Affairs committee on the question.

A Republican member of the committee, who opposes the conscription bill, said that "some members may vote for the conscription of industry amendment, just to force a fight on the floor and provide one more reasn why the bill should not pass."

Willkie has demanded that President Roosevelt state his attitude on the conscription of industry proposal. May denied any knowledge of the chief executive's attitude.

Under the house version of the conscription measure, the draft would include men between the ages of 21 and 44, inclusive; would authorize the draft of 1,000,000 men, and would allow the men to be sent anywhere in the Western Hemisphere, to insular possessions or to the Philippine Islands. Age limits in the senate bill were 21 to 31 years.

FAITH
We wonder what the State Highway Departments of Ohio and Pennsylvania have against the motorists of this vicinity.
Quite a while ago the Highway Department of Ohio gave the contract for a short piece of road between Coitsville and the Pennsylvania state line, and as we feel, gave them an unreasonable length of time to finish it and keep it closed all the time.
The detour from New Bedford to Youngstown, with the heavy traffic and hard winter, went bad in several places in both states, and in place of fixing it, it has been in a horrible condition ever since, when a few days work would have put it in shape to give the motorists who pay for these roads a good road to travel on.

URMSON-HEADINGS WEDDING IN CHURCH

In Highland United Presbyterian church, Monday morning, September 2, at 10:45 o'clock, Miss Helen Marie Urmson, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Urmson, 1311 Delaware avenue, became the bride of Donald L. Headings, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Headings, 11 West Edison avenue.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of the church, befor the flower embanked altar in the presence of the families and a number of friends of the popular couple.

For her wedding, the bride chose a street length dress of military blue with navy accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of yellow roses.

Miss Harriette R. Urmson, her sister's only attendant, wore an Alice blue street length dress with navy accessories and her corsage, also shoulder style, was made up of pink roses.

William E. Headings served his brother as best man.

Preceding the ceremony, a 15-minute program of pre-nuptial selections was played by Mrs. J. L. Reed, church organist, who also played softly, "I Love You, Truly" and "O, Promise Me," during the ceremony.

A wedding dinner was served at noon to members of the immediate families at a tea room on the Perry highway. Following, Mr. and Mrs. Headings left for a short wedding trip to Canada. They will be at home to their friends after September 10 at 413 East Leasure avenue in their newly furnished apartment.

Mrs. Urmson chose a black and white redingote ensemble with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Headings wore a cinnamon brown dress with brown accessories and both wore shoulder corsages.

The bride had been employed as a clerk in the county commissioner's office at the Lawrence county court house, and was a graduate of New Castle high school in the June class of '38. ## DOROTHEA HOULETTE WEDS R. KIMINKINEN

A pretty church wedding of interest took place Saturday evening when Miss Dorothea Houlette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Houlette of Hillsville, became the bride of Reynold Kiminkinen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kiminkinen of Bessemer, in the presence of a throng of relatives and friends.

The Rev. Einar Lehto officiated at 6 o'clock, using the single ring service, and the vows were pledged before a beautifully embanked altar. Ferns, palms and white gladioli were artistically arranged, lending an appropriate background for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in a white satin gown, made Princess style, with train, long fitted sleeves and her finger-tip length veil fell from a crown encircling her head. She carried a bride's shower bouquet.

Miss Alberta Houlette, niece of the bride, as maid of honor, appeared in an ocean blue taffeta gown, toe length, with short sleeves, and accessories to harmonize. Her arm bouquet was of mixed flowers with yellow predominating. Miss Elsie Kiminkinen, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, chose a dusty rose taffeta creation, also floor length, with accompaniments and arm bouquet, to give a striking contrast.

Laurence Kiminkinen served his brother as best man, while two brothers of the bride, Harry and Donald Houlette, ushered.

Adding further to the impressiveness of the event, appropriate nuptial selections were played by Mrs. Laurence Kiminkinen, organist, preceding and during the ceremony.

A congratulatory period was conducted during the playing of triumphant recessional music, and afterwards, a reception and buffet lunch featured at the home of the bride's parents, for immediate families and the wedding party. Pink and white appointments predominated in the table setting, and the traditional tiered cake was prominently placed.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiminkinen left later on a trip to Washington, D. C., and other points south, and upon returning will reside in Bessemer where he is employed at the Bessemer Cement Works. The bride is associated with the Republic Steel company in Cleveland, O.

NEWS VIEWS
By DR. H. M. ROSEN

Well, the army maneuvers at Ogdensburg, N. Y., have certainly caused plenty of verbal shooting. It seems the army was fighting the way kids do when they go around pointing fingers and shouting. "Bang! You're shot!" Tanks were army trucks with big signs which said "This is a tank"; gas pipes were anti-tank guns; broomsticks were rifles; and fake mortars were loaded with empty beer cans which were supposed to be shells. I think the idea is wonderful. It would make a very humane war—however, there's always the danger you might run up against an enemy without any imagination.

A golfer in Sapulpa, Okla., was trying for a "birdie" and struck a rabbit dashing across the green. It may be said he missed his shot by a hare.

McCLYMONDS GIVEN FAREWELL PARTIES

Honoring Mrs. Edwin McClymonds, who with her husband and their son, Freddie Lee, will depart Wednesday morning for Harrisburg to make their home, Mr. McClymonds being transferred as district manager of the American Tobacco company, the Y. N. C. club gathered in their home Saturday evening, on East Garfield avenue, to tender them a farewell shower.

Guests numbered nineteen who participated, and the early hours were devoted to bridge contests. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Yoho received the honor prizes. Following, lunch was enjoyed, the group being served by Mrs. Lewis Southern and Mrs. Fred Sturdevant, the later, mother of Mrs. McClymonds. At the close, the honorees were presented with two handsome electrical gifts for their new home.

On a preceeding evening, Mrs. Lou Southern of Wilmington avenue, entertained members of the We-Fu Bridge club in her home, to honor Mrs. McClymonds, which too, was in the nature of a farewell.

Sixteen shared this event, and cards held sway during the early period, with the honor prize falling to Mrs. Earl Reeves. Lunch was a later pleasure, the hostess being aided by Mrs. Robert Allshouse, a Youngstown, O., resident, and sister of the honoree.

A shower of miscellaneous household gifts were presented to Mrs. McClymonds, as additional mementoes of the occasion. Both parties were planned as surprises for the departing family.

WILLKIE'S HEADQUARTERS

WENDELL L. WILLKIE has moved to Rushville, Indiana, a town of 7,000 persons forty miles from Indianapolis, to maintain his headquarters for at least the early part of the campaign. The move is shrewd because it will bring his fight into the heart of the rich farming lands of the Midwest, a section of the country which will play an important part in determining who will be the next president.

From this point, Mr. Willkie can branch off in all directions and, at the same time, maintain vital contacts with the important Eastern cities. He will be close to Chicago and not too far distant from Saint Louis; but most important of all, he will provide a central location to which his lieutenants in all parts of the country will be able to travel without too much inconvenience.

And because Midwestern states have always been in the doubtful class, it will give Republican leaders of all shades of opinion a common meeting ground for their discussions and their immediate plans for the stern campaign.

Meanwhile, Mr. Willkie has not been idle. He has called for defeat of the provision of the draft bill which would give the government power to confiscate industry and sovietize the United States. He has followed up his acceptance speech with conferences and has continued to carry the fight to the present administration.

Wisely, he has selected the national defense program as one of the vital points in his platform and has insisted upon complete information from all sources. He has made a pledge that he will do his part in planning security for the nation, and his early efforts indicate a desire for an effective safeguard.

WHERE THE OLDSTERS SERVE

Word from Washington is that there is in preparation a directory of the nation's experts who may help in an emergency. The directory is to be called "The National Roster of Scientific and Specialized Personnel."

The effort to list the experts is made by the National Resources Planning Board and the Civil Service Commission. The plan has no age limits. There is no reason why it should. There are many oldsters who can give invaluable aid to any defense program. They have become specialists or have toyed with hobbies that have made them expert. It is estimated that one out of every 250 Americans will be on the list.

The planners recognize that not all the effectives could qualify for the football teams of the national academies. There should be wider use also of the idea in choosing conscripts for the armed forces.

STRONG YET LISSOME

Without stopping to think, people spread butter on bread, shoot oil into salad dressing, pour cream into coffee and fry bacon with eggs. There is a reason for these habits of mankind, so deep-seated and sound as to bolster health and strength and energy.

Science Service has gone to much trouble to digest this subject and emerges from deep study with the observation that most persons do not need to be told to eat fat, that they like the flavor instinctively and because of experience that a meal with fat in it has more staying power than a meal without.

Fat, it is claimed, gives more energy than proteins or carbohydrates, than meat or bread or potatoes, for fat contains a higher proportion of carbon and hydrogen, is comparatively drier and much more digestible, leaving little waste. Furthermore, a meal with fat, however little, gives a feeling of greater and more lasting satisfaction because it leaves the stomach more slowly than proteins, starches and sugars.

Without fat, food results in premature hunger, lowered energy and reduced capacity to work, as was proved in European countries which suffered privations during the first World War.

All of this is most interesting and good to know, but it makes things more difficult for the worried fat person in his painful efforts to adhere to a stingy diet designed to reduce weight.

JAPAN'S APPROACH

Recall from the United States of the Japanese ambassador and several consuls is supposed to be coincidental with a stiffened Japanese attitude toward the United States in which the Nipponese will ostensibly drift closer to the Rome-Berlin axis, strengthen their friendship with Russia and attempt to put America on the anxious seat.

The truth is that the Japanese are organizing a one-party system for the quicker realization of their goals and will insist upon having amenable diplomats on the job throughout the world, and especially in the United States. One aim is to maneuver the United States into economic and financial co-operation with Japan.

Therefore Japan and Germany will make a great show of getting together, Germany for the purpose of diverting America's attention as much as possible to the Orient and the Japanese to encourage the diversion of American capital to Japan to offset the German influence.

The Japanese would rather tie into America than Germany, not being sure of Hitler's territorial ambitions and confident America has no designs in the Pacific except freedom of trade.

There are rumors Japan is so hard pressed economically that the people are insisting upon a settlement of the Chinese war. In that case Japan would naturally get more out of trade with the United States than with Germany. But whether Japan can make progress through a left-handed approach to the United States is to be seen.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'TS MAY BUILD FEAR IN CHILDREN

It is disheartening to hear so many parents shout at little children, "Don't run among those weeds, you might step on a snake!" Or, 'Throw down that dirty thing, it will bite you!" The thing might be no more harmful than an earthworm, lady bug or caterpillar. Warned constantly against the lowly creatures, the child soon learns to attack and kill them, being in constant fear of most small living things as harmless as kittens.

With due caution concerning the very few harmful creatures, we should train our children to enjoy observing them and being kind to them. I have seen a little child treated to watch a group of ants for half an hour, or a toad eating his dinner, or having an earthworm crawl between his fingers or toes to the youngster's great delight. Why not?

Living Animals In School

The school is doing much good for wise education in this direction. In classrooms from coast to coast I have seen almost every kind of living animals, wild and domestic, including dogs, cats (even a lamb), chickens, pigeons, rabbits, white rats, squirrels, turtles, frogs, tadpoles, snakes and many others.

Always the children learn to handle these creatures with proper care and to feel kindly toward them. Primary children dictate stories about these animals in their midst which the teacher prints on the board for their reading lesson. I once found third-grade children writing imaginary stories to a rabbit of their room. In upper grades and junior high animals such as rabbits and white rats are bred. Accordingly the children get wholesome education about the "story of life," and acquire a tender attitude toward the expectant animal mother.

Children Unafraid

Several months ago I visited a second-grade room in a rural school in Utah. The children were eager to show me all the creatures they had in their terrarium. Crowding about it, a group of youngsters held their begging hands outstretched for a garter snake. Each was supplied by the patient teacher. Some gently wrapped these harmless long creatures about their necks. It was then that I, for the first time in my life, mustered up enough courage to take a live snake in my hand. I supposed these little children would protect me. Always before I had hoped my own children, who handled such snakes freely, would never ask me to take one. For some reason I hardly can understand, they never did.

When one of my boys was about five he and I were walking down a country road one day when, startled, I suddenly stopped. A dead garter snake lay across the road. Apparently the lad did not observe my fright for he tenderly picked up the dead snake and laid it in the grass by the side of the road with the remark, "Poor thing, maybe it will live again." His childhood experiences were of course, very different from what mine had been.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

REASURING

The news that makes the headlines these days is grim and foreboding. Men lust to kill in Europe. Men accuse nations of failing—nations accuse men of heartlessness and betrayal. And those stories are true stories of real people.

On a single recent day, though, many newspapers carried three stories of a different type, which were buried on inside pages in small type, far behind the front page headlines.

One story told of Chester Sweet, unemployed San Francisco carpenter, who with his son Chester, Jr. was riding a freight toward Sacramento by night. Chester, Jr. fell from the train. Though it was too dark to see, his father leaped to the track and ran back to find the boy. He never found him. He fell into a culvert and was killed. The boy was not hurt.

A hungry burglar looted the kitchen of Nicholas Erwin, Oakland laborer—then demanded Erwin's money at the point of a revolver. "If I give you my money, I won't be able to feed my children," Erwin said. The burglar asked to see the children. Erwin showed them sleeping—tots, three, five and seven. The burglar pocketed his gun and went on his way.

In Philadelphia, a man found his cherished cocker spaniel dead on the street, victim of an automobile accident, his collar and license tag stolen. A few days later, he received a surprise package by express—a cocker spaniel pup, as like the dead dog as possible, wearing the collar and tag. Plainly the motorist, accidently killed the pet, had taken the collar for identification of the owner and made the best restitution in his power.

Such impulses—a father's utter disregard of his own safety for his son, a desperate thief's defeat at the sight of sleeping children, a careless motorist's remorse and generosity over the death of a little dog—are multiplied in various ways thousands of times over each day in American life. It is because such news of real people is so common that it isn't headline interest—and because so many millions create that type of little news, the race need not despair entirely over the evidence of man's baser nature that so frequently dominates the headlines.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:30. Sun rises tomorrow 5:29.

How these modern cars can get up and go! A speeder didn't realize how he was hitting it up the other day until a police officer reminded him that the speedometer was smoking.

We have noticed that some people waste light and water more at the places where they work than they do in their own homes where they have to pay for those things themselves.

No doubt the reason for so many neighbors killing each other is because there is more reason for it.

You can tell the people who don't pay taxes. They are the ones who growl that wealth isn't conscripted.

When I visit a store—particularly a dime store—it burns me up if two salesgirls carry on a conversation while one is waiting on me. The other day while I was making a purchase of a dime's worth of candy two girls chatted. Their conversation went something like this:

"Say, kid, you should have been with us last night; Bob looked so cute. It was after 1 o'clock when we went to get something to eat."

"I didn't like her dress a bit, but she was trying to make a hit."

"Gee, but Dad was hoppin' mad when Tom stayed until 2 and I sure was tired the next day."

"Call me up some evening when you've nothing to do."

After listening to such chat while the little blonde put my candy into a sack, I was about ready to scream. —Tired.

Isn't it strange that the statesmen who hate and fear conscription also happen to be the ones who hate and fear Roosevelt?

There are two kinds of married men: those who hate to tell where they are going, and those who wish somebody cared.

They tell of a local woman who spends 25 per cent of her time working and 75 per cent telling everyone how hard she has to work.

We know a bird who admits that he can't sing. The unusual part of it is, he never annoys anyone by trying.

AND HOW TRUE!

Heard in a meat market:

"Don't give me all that bone in by roast."

"I ain't givin' it to you, lady—you're payin' for it."

Women are people who dread meeting a rich or important member of their sex, unless they know they look like a million dollars.

Where's the sculptor who could carve the Roosevelt face on the Mountain of Debt piled up in seven years?

Trotsky wanted to come to the United States but President Roosevelt would not let him come while he was alive and also refused to let his body be brought to this country. Very good!

We read of a woman who was awarded $9,535 because she had lost her voice in an automobile accident. The judge told her if she ever talked aloud payments would be stopped. Some people do improve right after they get verdicts for accidents.

When a silver offering is taken up, there will be no objections if some people will drop in a paper bill to keep it from rattling when it hits the pennies.

A 97-year-old woman in East Liverpool, O., attributes her long life to smoking tobacco in pipes and cigars. She also eats pork and drinks coffee and eats corn on the cob and don't wear glasses. Wow!

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Loss of friends, social opportunities and business prospects result from failure to answer letters. Those who have written to you and received no reply reason that you have become indifferent to their friendship or their patronage. The most important and powerful executives appreciate the necessity of employing enough secretaries to answer every arriving letter, no matter how trivial it may be. Such punctiliousness has aided in their becoming personages of power. Social leaders have attained their influence largely by such scrupulous response to every item of daily mail. None of us can afford to lose a friend and few of us retain the friendship of correspondents who have become offended by any non-responsive attitude. If you are really too busy to answer all of your social letters with long replies, asknowledge them on correspondence cards promising a fuller reply in the immediate future.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: Please help me with my 15-year-old boy's bedroom. The wallpaper is buff. He has walnut twin beds, a desk and two chairs. The desk is unpainted. Should it be varnished to match the suite. What kind of rug shall I buy . . what kind of draperies and bedspreads. He likes things attractive, but thinks his room is not sufficiently masculine.—Mother.

Answer: Have a small night table with a lamp thereone between the twin beds. Stain the desk to match the other furniture. I suggest a taupe rug of plain design—that he will not consider it too conspicuous; even linoleum for very hard wear will be suitable. Chintz or cretonne draperies with a tan background and brown figures will have no suggestion of femininity.

Allow him to select his own wall decorations—pictures or pennants as he chooses. Get him a small corner book case in which he might store his favorite books, on top of which he might place an atlas, a ship or an aeroplane model, etc., according to his taste. His bedspread might be a tan and brown combination to carry out the scheme of the draperies.

The decorations should be sturdy, substantial and masculine, rather than colorful and dainty, to which any real boy will object.

Lulu: By all means finish your final year in college. You have been a brilliant student, so don't give up now if you can possibly go back for one more year, after which you will receive your degree. . . something to value highly for the rest of your life.

An Ohio woman wants a divorce because her husband left her immediately after the ceremony and now associates with other women and poses as single. After all, women do have to stand for a lot of rough stuff!

Mr. Willkie declares he does not want the support of those who hold racial prejudices. That's real Americanism!

QUALIFICATIONS

Members of the naval board were examining young applicants for appointments to a naval college.

"Well," said an admiral to one of the youths, "what must an officer be before he can have a funeral with full naval honors?"

"Dead" answered the bright youth.

At the end of the Hoover administration there were 568,345 employes in the executive branch of the federal government. On June 30th this year the number was 1,011,066. The New Dealers know how to spend but they know nothing about saving.

PUDDIN' HEAD

President Wilson used to find pleasure, according to a story which reaches us by a roundabout route, in relating how he once had his special car sidetracked at Hannibal, Mo., so he could make a quiet pilgrimage to the monument erected on the bluff, to Mark Twain.

Unknown to the natives, he asked one of them if he remembered Tom Sawyer.

"Never heard of him," the Missourian made answer.

"Do you recollect Huckleberry Finn?" asked the president.

"Finn? Finn?" mused the native "There was a family of Finns down the road a piece, but I don't think there was a Huckleberry among 'em."

"Do you happen to recall "Puddin' Head Wilson?"

"Oh, yes, sure—I voted for him twice."

The woman with poise is the one who knows she is well-dressed, for she sees the catty things examining her as she is examining them.

We always read this column after it appears in print so we can see what is wrong with it. We often find some things wrong.

An East Side boy came home from the show with a tired look on his face. "How was the show?" asked mother. "Terrible!" said the son. "I had all I could do to sit through it the second time!"

A teacher pointed to a deer in the zoo, and asked a little boy, "What is that?"

"I don't know," answered the boy.

"What does your mother call your father?"

"Don't tell me that's a louse."

And yet, believe it or not, there are fat woman who are happy because they have quit giving a darn.

Mr. Willkie is entitled a score of 100 per cent on security. And at that he can stand defeat far better than the American people can.

People generally rarely try to tame a wild rumor. That job is left to newspaper reporters.

At 50 an old age pension would be something to look forward to. In the meantime, thrift might be a surer safeguard than a dream.

About half the people who try fail in getting an automobile driver' license. Some of those who have been trying to drive for years would also fail if they tried it now.

What's What At A Glance

Greeks And Turks Worry Mussolini
Italian Aggression May Be Disastrous
Eastern End Of Mediterranean Hot Spot

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Despite Italy's conquest of British Somaliland against pretty weak resistance, there are American diplomatic, army and navy observers who express the opinion that Benito Mussolini is monkeying with a buzzsaw at the eastern end of the Mediterranean.

Their theory is that maybe he overdid himself by extending his activities in Greece's direction at the present juncture.

That the Italians can lick the Greeks, assuming that the latter are left one-handed, isn't disputed. They may not be left one-handed, however. They have Britain's promise to help them, for one thing. To be sure, the British may not be in a position to be very helpful, so far as a land campaign's concerned, and Italian forces can get ito Hellas on terra firma, from Albania's direction.

But how about Turkey? The Turks today are pro-Greek. They also are well known as formidable fighters. They proved it in the last World war, when the British were trying to gain control of the Dardanelles and couldn't do it. Turkey and Greece combined are seen as belligerents who are liable to provide a pretty large mouthful for even Italy to masticate.

Turks Are Tough

It's true that Turkey has to consider the attitude of its big near neighbor, Russia. And Russia has a certain sort of an alliance with Germany, which, in turn, has a hook-up with Italy. Thus perhaps it would appear that Russia should warn Turkey to lay off any partnership with the Greeks against the Italians.

It seems, though, that Comrade Stalin is a rather lukewarm friend of Fuehrer Hitler and it's a commonplace that Stalin and Il Duce Mussolini distinctly don't like one another.

Apparently that's the trouble with that axis. Evidently it isn't dependable.

Anyway, reliable reports are to the effect that Comrade Stalin has told the Turks to go right ahead with any bargain they choose to make with Greek Premier Metaxas, in Athens.

The prospect is, then, that Signor Mussolini is up against a Greco-Turkish coalition relative to his land operations.

Greeks Warlike

The Italians haven't much of a reputation as terrestrial scrappers, but, as previously remarked, the Turks have. The Greeks aren't particularly tested in recent times, but they are warlike at present.

Italy has a good bit of sea strength and Turkey and Greece haven't any to speak of. That's where the British enter into the equation. There's no question that they entirely outclass Italy in Mediterranean waters. Upon Benito's declaration of war his fleet promptly hunted cover, and John Bull's ships haven't even been able to find Italy's, to demolish them. If they venture out into open water, in support of an anti-Greece-Turkish campaign, all the best guessing is that Britain's craft will dispose of them in short order.

Most accounts are that Italy's aviation equipment is excellent. Turkey and Greece haven't any worth mentioning. Still, Greece and Turkey haven't a great deal to lose by aerial bombardment—only a few ancient ruins and mosques to be knocked over.

Spread Out Pretty Thin

Italy's force is spread out middling thin, too.

It has the whole length of the Mediterranean to look after, from Gibraltar eastward. Besides Turkey and Greece, it's likely to have Egypt on its hands shortly. It's home coast and its African shores are heavily blockaded.

Germany can do it no good on such waterfronts or between them.

Russia could lend it aid, but Comrade Stalin is no sure aid as to the eastern Mediterranean, and, I guess, all the Balkans.

Naturally it's none of Japan's funeral.

They say it's quite a worry to Benito.

Increasing The "Toil And Sweat"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.

THERE is a situation in Congress today which recalls—or at least should recall—that part of Mr. Willkie's acceptance speech in which he warned the American people that while, perhaps, they would be spared the "blood and tears" which Mr. Churchill had foretold as the sure portion of the English, they certainly would not escape a measure of "toil and sweat" vastly greater than any they have previously experienced.

THIS was so different from the usual candidate's promise—that if only he be chosen all public problems would be solved and wrongs righted, without pain or trouble—that it was warmly commended by some of our most erudite commentators. Clearly, it clashed with the generally accepted political idea that the people must be fed pleasantries. It was blunt, realistic and honest, but it is doubtful whether it made a really deep impression upon the general public, whose habit is not to look ahead or concern itself much about prophecies, one way or the other.

TO thoughtful men, however, Mr. Willkie's warning is given particular point by the character of the tax bill now pending in Congress and which is expected to be passed in a few days. It would be in the national interests if the people as a whole could be induced to consider and understand this point. Because the fact is that this bill is a fake and a fraud which conceals from them—and is intended to conceal—the hard realities which, soon or late, they must face. Ostensibly, it purports to pay a reasonable share of the billions now being poured out for defense. Actually, it increases the terrifically inadequate revenues by an insignificant amount. The top estimate of the money it will raise is $190,000,000. Informed men say it ought to raise from four to five times that amount.

EVERYBODY in the Treasury Department, the President in the White House, everybody in Congress, and everybody whose job it is to observe public affairs, knows that this bill is an utterly inadequate, half-baked makeshift. And everybody knows the reason—to wit, politics. The purpose of the bill is to convey the idea that the Administration and Congress are meeting the situation with intelligent action and taking a sizable step toward paying the gigantic bill we are now incurring for the national defense. The fact is it is a trifling measure which barely makes a start toward paying. This bill does not even pinch anybody. Unless all semblance of fiscal control is abandoned and the Federal financial structure is allowed completely to collapse, the real bill will come next year. And it will cut to the bone. It will impose hardship and suffering upon every man and woman in the country. It will make very real the "toil and sweat" of which Mr. Willkie spoke. And that "toil and sweat" will be the greater because of the failure to enact a real revenue bill now.

BRIEF recital of the facts back of this tax bill may throw some light south Atlantic and the Caribbean, and which will provide England with badly-needed additional warships.

In his letter to Hull, Lord Lothian declared the historic transaction was promulgated because of the "friendly and sympathetic interest of His Majesty's government in the united kingdom in the national security of the United States and their desire to strengthen the ability of the United States to cooperate effectively with the other nations of the Americas in the defense of the western hemisphere."

Leased For 99-Years

All the bases and facilities are being leased for a 99-year period free from all rent and charges other than compensation for owners of private property who may suffer losses by expropriation or damage arising out of the establishment of the military facilities.

Lothian's letter fixed the exact location of the bases as follows: the Avalon Peninsula and a portion of the southern coast of Newfoundland; the east coast and the Great Bay of Bermuda; the eastern side of the Bahamas; the southern coast of Jamaica; the western coast of St. Lucia; the west coast of Trinidad in the Gulf of Paria; the Island of Antigua and in British Guania within 50 miles of Georgetown, the colony's capital.

Designate Experts

The two governments will designate a group of experts to determine such details as the specific location and boundaries of the bases, the necessary seaward, coast and anti-aircraft defenses, the location of sufficient military garrisons, the stores and other necessary auxiliary facilities.

Although Lord Lothian's letter said that the United States will exchange naval and military equipment and material for the bases, Hull's letter as well as the president's message mentioned only the 50 destroyers as the "consideration" which the United States will transfer to Great Britain.

These destroyers, built by the United States during the first World war are approximately 1200 tons each.

It is estimated by naval experts that the ships do not require much expense in the process of recommissioning. Although they have been part of the American navy's laid-up fleet, the vessels have been kept in good shape with their engines packed in grease.

Jackson's Opinion

Attorney General Jackson's opinion indicated that originally the United States proposed the transfer to England a fleet of small patrol boats or "mosquito" ships which now are nearly completed but already are considered obsolescent by the navy.

Jackson's opinion, however, held that American statutes prohibit the transfer of the mosquito boats. The opinion cited a wartime act providing that while the United States is a neutral it is unlawful to send to a belligerent any ship built, armed or equipped as a vessel of war with the intent that such ships be used by a belligerent.

While this law, according to Jackson, would apply to the mosquito fleet, it would not be applicable to the over-aged destroyers which were not built with the intent that they should enter the service of a belligerent.

Jackson noted that during the Russian-Japanese war in 1904, the German government permitted sale to Russia of torpedo boats and ocean liners belonging to its auxiliary navy.

No congressional action on the agreement will be necessary Jackson held. He said:

"The proposed arrangement may be concluded as an executive agreement, effective without awaiting ratification."

When an auto reportedly driven by Chester Thompson of New Wilmington, R. D. 1, and a horse and buggy assertly driven by Mrs. Fanny K. The buggy was demolished.

According to State Motor Policeman Doherty, the horse and buggy was being driven into a side road near Cotton school in Pulaski township, when the crash occurred.

The Great Game Of Politics

on the failure. Three months ago, when the defense program was launched, the President mentioned taxes as something that could be "taken up later" and suggested that Congress authorize the appropriations and then adjourn. Usually that would have suited well the average Congressman in an election year. But, astonishing to say, a sentiment manifested itself among the people in favor not only of Congress staying on the job but in favor of a tax bill. At the time it was commented upon as significant of the readiness of the American people to make the sacrifices involved in defense and of a popular unwillingness to accept the "take it up later" doctrine.

AS a result, without White House or Treasury leadership, a tax bill took shape in Congress The Administration fell in back of it and for awhile it looked as though something quite unprecedented was about to happen. But that was before the conventions. That was before the campaign got under way. Despite the willingness—even eagerness—displayed by the people to submit to taxation, neither the Administration nor Congress possessed the courage really to tax them. Neither one insisted upon facing the facts and enacting the sort of tax legislation now which is inevitable next year and which will be far more burdensome then because it is not enacted now.

THE Treasury officials, privately, are bitter about this bill. They know the situation better than anyone else, but without Presidential leadership there is nothing they can do about it. In the Senate there are a few men who will denounce the inadequacy of the pending measure, fight to broaden its base, increase its rates, repeal exemptions. But they will not succeed, because this is an election year. One third of the Senate and all of the House are seeking relection. So, too, is the President. That is the basic reason there is no realistic approach to this tax business and no real White House leadership.

THE contention that the defense program is free from politics falls to the ground when the truth of the tax situation in Congress is grasped. Few will dispute that an adequate tax program is an essential part of a defense program. Few will dispute that there is real national peril in the failure to tax the people proportionately to the billions spent. Certainly no one will contend that the present bill represents that kind of taxation. And there simply is no escape from the fact that the reason it does not is because of the political aspirations of the men charged with responsibility and clothed with power.

Japan Admits Exploitation Of Conquered North China To Obtain War Machinery

(International News Service)

PEKING, China. — Mr. Okinori Kaya, former Tokio minister of finance, and present head of the powerful North China Development company, frankly told International News Service that his semi-governmental concern was working directly to strengthen Japan's war machine.

"The plan of material mobilization in the area of North China under Japanese military occupation envisages three main points," declared Mr. Kaya.

"(1) To supply the war material to Japan which is being consumed in the conduct of Sino-Japanese hostilities.

"(2) To expend the armament of Japan, and

"(3) To meet the needs of peacetime industry."

However, Kaya added that his plan was not based entirely on the needs of any one state, but rather on the requirements of the daily life of North China, Japan and Manchukuo as well.

Controls North China Industry

The North China Development company which in reality is a holding company under Japanese governmental creation and supervision, controls every large industrial enterprise and public utilities in North China.

All former Chinese government railways in this area, bus routes and waterway communications have been consolidate by the Japanese into a Sino-Japanese North China Communications Company. This operates 3,750 miles of railways, 6,250 miles of motor buses, and 625 miles of waterways.

For political reasons, military strategy and economic profit, the North China Development Company controls all telephones, telegraphs and wireless communciations in the area through the North China Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Other large subsidiaries of Kaya's concern were revealed by him to include the Lung Yen Iron Ore Company; North China Salt Company; the Tatung Coal Mines; the North China Electric Company, and a dozen other lesser companies completely enscribing North China's industrial and economic life within the bounds of Japanese domination.

KNICKERBOCKER TELLS RESULTS OF GERMAN ATTACKS

gan with some people calling it "imperialist," has now become through the efforts of the luftwaffe definitely a "poor man's war."

Britain's "little man," who has suffered most, is today most eager to strike back at the author of all his woes.

The most impressive sight of the tour was Ramsgate, a seaside resort innocent of any military objective, but victim of the war's worst assault by air. It offers proof that air war can and may wipe out all our material civilization above ground but need not result in much loss of life.

Will Live Underground

It supports the belief that before this war is over tens of millions of inhabitants of this part of the world may be living permanently underground, probably at an extremely low standard of living, but still carrying on.

Ramsgate's chief constable, S. F. Butler, took us around the city which looked badly enough damaged, but revealed the depth of its wounds only under expert guidance.

The horrifying swiftness of air assault was never better demonstrated. In four and one-half minutes, 50 German bombers dropped 500 one hundred and ten pound bombs indiscriminately upon the residence district of Ramsgate. They destroyed entirely or partially 1,222 houses, nearly all homes of workers and small shop keepers.

Largest Destruction

This is the largest number of houses ever destroyed in any single air raid anywhere in history, although greater monetary damage was done by Germans in Rotterdam's business center and Warsaw suffered more in a series of raids.

If a reader wishes to get an idea of what the destruction of 1,222 houses means, let him look around his neighborhood and count that many homes. He'll find it includes everything in sight in all directions.

One of the most important lessons in the bombing of Ramsgate lay in the fact that despite the terrific destruction not more than 28 persons were killed and 45 injured and this was because Ramsgate possesses what are probably the best air raid shelters in the world.

Dover Almost Normal

Dover was astonishing. After everything that had been written about Dover in the last month, one could expect to find it just a heap of ruins as the Germans claimed it to be—but the fact of the matter is that Dover is almost completely normal.

Its total dead during the entire raids number six and the total material losses to a dozen houses, bombed and shelled, is under $50,000.

Dover's nearest neighbor, Folkstone, suffered only slightly more. Six Folkstone citizens were killed and 150 houses destroyed and damaged but 14,000 of its 47,000 people are carrying on.

Interesting to note is the remark of a Folkstone police inspector, who declared:

"Germans know as much about Folkstone and all this coast as we do. They used to send swarms of students vacationing here before the war. They know every nook and cranny."

Motoring on down the coast, we passed the tiny hamlet of Dymchurch, where one bomb killed an 84-year-old man, his 82-year-old wife, and one 14-year-old boy.

Winchelsea, seat of the Norman church 1,000 years ago, is untouched.

Sees Air Battle

Hastings, scene of the battle of "1066 and all of that," has had a bare half dozen in this war, but just outside Hastings we ran under the greatest air battle your correspondent ever witnessed.

More than 100 German bombers, escorted by fighters in formations like Canadian geese, flew like silver leaves floating 20,000 feet above us, their wings gleaming against a cobalt blue sky.

Suddenly, 30 Hurricanes and Spitfires dived from the clouds and struck the Germans at right angles in mid-formation. It was like savage dogs ripping into a sheep fold. The Germans broke formation and scattered and now they fought all over the sky.

Far as the eye could see, groups of German and British planes dived, wheeled, looped, stalled, and sideslipped—and all the while they spat continuously, unintermittently machine gun bullets.

The fiery crackle of Britain's eight gunned fighters filled the heavens. Now and then the roar of a machine diving made us cry "is he falling?" Then the tell tale wisp, first white and then dark smoke, showed that the plane was falling. It began to turn red at the nose, then flamed. Its pilot never bailed out.

For over 50 miles along the coast we motored beneath this epic battle. At Bexhill-on-Sea business was almost as in peacetime with no dead and no bombing.

Brighton Near Normal

Famous Brighton, favorite seacoast resort of Victorian times, is the most normal of all. Its total loss is four killed, 12 wounded, 12 houses damaged in six air raids in which 40 bombs were dropped.

Its peacetime population of 147,000 is somewhat diminished. Its curfew a half hour after sunset closes most of the hotel life. But otherwise Brighton is almost gay.

Of all cities along this coast, Portsmouth suffered the largest loss of life, having around 100 deaths from a single raid. Here again the Germans unloaded their bombs without aiming and had devilish luck in making direct hits upon a movie theatre and upon an ill-protected surface air raid shelter crowded with women and children.

Yet the Portsmouth harbor, which was the principal objective of the German raids, hasn't been impeded the least nor any of its facilities knocked out.

Nowhere on the whole tour could I find any important damage to any important ports. Ninety-eight per cent of all the damage has been done to innocent civilians and their property.

The Germans have failed to blockade Britain.

There's always a way to get even with the government. Every time you are taxed another dollar, you can waste one less.

F. Emery Retired From P. And L. E. Saturday, Honored

Completes Thirty-Five Years Of Service; Event Observed By Associates Saturday

Saturday, August 31, marked a memorable date in the life of F. Emery of Bonzo street, inasmuch as he completed thirty-five years of faithful service with the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, and the occasion was appropriately celebrated by his co-workers and associates of the company, he being pensioned on this date.

As the hands of the clock indicated the hour of three, work was dropped and all gathered around Emery, in the New Castle Junction Car Shop, the attendants totaling upwards of one hundred. The impromptu was planned previously by a group of the P. and L. workmen, for the purpose of remembering Emery with two handsome matching gifts of leather, which will remind him for years to come of this associations while on the P. and L. E. An impressive presentation address was made by H. W. Hewlett, in behalf of the assemblage. The reception continued for three or four hours, and many out-of-town officials having been told of the event, called to share the informal reception.

Mr. Emery started with the P. and L. E. railroad on August 1, 1905, and can boast of having worked the entire period of thirty-five years, without losing a day, due to illness. He began as a car repairman, and from there was promoted to gang foreman, then to general car foreman.

Fellow workers and officials from out of town who called to share the informal program, include H. W. Hewlett, assistant master car builder of McKees Rocks W. W. Walters, general car foreman of McKees Rocks; T. Stanton, general car foreman of Youngstown, O., John Merscher, retired general car foreman of Glassport; S. E. Barnhart, storekeeper of Struthers, O., W. A. Shira, general yardmaster of the New Castle Junction; A. Alexander, telegraph operator New Castle Junction; Hugh Sproat, train master, of Youngstown, O., H. L. DeVore, chief interchange inspector, of Youngstown, O., and others.

Horn Tooting, Snake Dancing Are Prohibited

Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen today issued a pre-football season warning to the effect that incessant tooting of horns and snake dancing will result in arrest.

He asserted that "no auto was ever driven by a horn" and added that "an auto horn is not a musical instrument" but a danger signal.

Snake dancing in the past has congested traffic, created hazards and interfered with the normal operation of business

"Anyone caught leading a snake dance, other than on the football field, will be arrested and autoists who toof their horns will have their license number of their cars taken by police and will be summoned before Mayor Charles B. Mayne," the chief stated.

McMullen said that rowdyism along the streets will also result in arrest. "The place to vent enthusiasm is at the football field," the chief concluded.

The more bases we get, the less likely we are to be caught off base.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE TEACHER'S AUTHORITY

(This is the second of a series of special articles on preparing the child for school, written for The News, by the personal physician to the Dionne Quintuplets, who are themselves starting regular school-work for the first time this month.)

One of the first things confronting parents whose child starts to school for the first time this month, is to teach him or her to submit gracefully to the authority of other adults for the first time.

This may be difficult. It will be hard indeed, if the child comes from one of those indulgent homes where he has never been taught to submit without an argument to the authority of his own parents. Unfortunately, there are a good many of those homes, and by the time the youngster is six years of age, he has become quite a problem. You see, in order to teach a child to discipline himself, the parents must begin to teach him almost from the day he is born.

"When should I begin to train my child?" a young mother is supposed to have asked Sir William Osler. "How old is your child?" asked the Canadian physician. "Two years." "You are already too late," he is quoted as saying.

Now he didn't intend that to be taken any more seriously than his dictim that all men should be chloroformed at a certain age. It was his way of emphasizing a point, and it is a point well taken. Training of children, as I myself have said here many times, properly begins in the cradle.

A friend of mine who is a teacher in a primary grade in a fairly large school tells me that dozens of mothers come to her and say, something like this: "Oh, teacher, I am so glad Johnny is old enough to start school. We can't do a thing with him, and I think perhaps school will be good for him."

Now isn't that a fine burden to impose on a teacher who has a dozen or more youngsters to look after? It isn't fair to the child either. He hasn't been taught to obey at home, and so, he has even less inclination to do what his teacher tells him. The result is that before she has impressed upon him the fact that he must do as he is told, there has been a series of clashes between them. Certainly these haven't done him any good, for he can't make good progress with his lessons when there is such an emotional disturbance involving him at school.

If your child has learned to respect authority at home, even then it will be necessary for you to make him understand and cooperate in this transfer of authority from you to the teacher.

A mother I know who is very wise with her children, has a method I think is effective. She started having the teacher in for a meal or tea before the child actually went to school. Of course this was entirely a social contact, yet the child got to know the teacher, and visa versa. So the child actually grew to look forward to getting to school with his friend the teacher, and there never was any question in his mind about obeying her. His mother had seen to that, with the result that the transition from home to school was easy and painless.

I know some adults look lightly on these things. They think that children will get to like school all by themselves. Well, you know how some children hate school all their lives. I am convinced that a good deal of this is due to the child's unhappy experiences during his first days at school. He learns to hate school then, and never outgrows that dislike.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Pennsylvania is an industrial state.

Industrial accidents cause many deaths and injuries.

July, 1940, for instance, there were 9,065 injuries and 163 deaths.

Disability of more than 7 days followed 75 per cent of accidents.

Most of the injuries occurred in the coal mining field.

Construction work and iron and steel plants had many injuries.

Unsafe acts caused 95 per cent of all industrial accidents.

Overloading, crowding and poor planning caused half the accidents.

Use of defective and unsafe tools contributed to 20 per cent.

The deaths in July included 63 in a mine disaster.

Occupational diseases, silicosis and asbestosis, killed five.

Industrial leadership may cost too much in human life.

Many Insect Pests Cause State Damage

HARRISBURG, Sept. 3.—A force of alien beetles has attacked and devastated large acreages of sweet corn, cherries and grape vines in Southeastern Pennsylvania, headquarters of the Agriculture Department reported today.

The insects are, of course, our familar pest, the Japanese beetle.

All in all, Pennsylvania thus far has had what Dr. T. L. Guyton, chief entomologist in the department, calls a "good bug year."

The Japenese beetles have infiltrated again in counties where they were prevalent before, in an area extending on a 60 or 70-mile radius from Philadelphia, but have dropped off in counties seriously affected in other years, particularly in the central part of the state.

There has been a slight infestation at Wilkes-Barre, and the beetles are building up around Pittsburgh, Dr. Guyton reports. A small colony was found at Johnstown, in an isolated garden patch or two. The Lake Erie fruit belt has been noticeably clean.

Locust Attacks Over Wide Area

Other bugs have retired by and large, with the exception of a scourage of the cicada, or 17-year locust.

This odd insect, whose hibernations have been checked for 150 years, cropping out with regularity at 17-year intervals, has attacked forest trees and young fruit trees in Bedford, Blair, Fulton, Somerset, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Juniata, Perry, Snyder, Centre, Union, Northumberland, Adams, York, Bucks, Lehigh, Berks and Luzerne counties.

Between 500 and 600 men have worked part-time through the hard coal region, spreading more than 120 tons of arsenate of lead, to reduce the infestation of gypsy moths which defoliate shade trees, and Dr. Guyton says:

"We believe we're reducing them."

The bay worm has caused some trouble to shade trees. . . . The codling moth has not beer as serious in its damage to apple and other fruit trees. . . . The Oriental moth is not as general as it was, being controlled largely by imported parasites. . . . White grubs have accounted for a large part of the corn crop damage.

Ant Is Worst Pest, Housewives Believe

But the pet anathema of housewives, city or rural, remains the common ant, according to requests for aid received by the Agriculture Department.

"Not a day passes but what we received several requests about how to kill ants," Dr. Guyton said.

The department suggests rotenone, a powdered substance derived from the root of a South American plant, the cube.

"The South American people reaced out and captured the market for insectide from England even before the war," Dr. Guyton observed.

The United States formerly depended largely on British colonies for the herbs from which were made the commercial insecticides.

AMSTERDAM'S STANDARD TIME

Holland is the only important country which does not observe world time, but uses that of the steeple of the West church in Amsterdam.

Baker Island, one of the American equatorial islands, was unoccupied until April 3, 1935, when an American colony from the coast guard cutter Itasca occupied it.

Mass Escape Made At Arkansas Prison Farm

Two Of Convicts Are Recaptured

Thirty-Six Make Escape After Killing Trusty Guard On Monday

DESPERADO LEADS BREAK FROM FARM

(International News Service)

GOULD, Ark., Sept. 3.—Two of the 36 convicts who escaped from the Cummins state prison farm yesterday after killing a trusty-guard were reported today as authorities of Arkansas and Louisiana conducted an intense hunt for the other felons.

At the same time, five of the missing convicts, all heavily armed with 30-30 rifles seized during the break, were reported to have kidnapped two girls and a youth near Rayville, La., and to be headed for Natchez, Miss., in the trio's car.

Those kidnaped were Miss Vincille Williams, 16; Gladys Diamond, 16, and Jerry Harrigal, all of Rayville. They were seen driving off by Mrs. J. F. Jones, wife of the Richland parish sheriff.

Led By Desperado

The five convicts reported at Rayville were thought to be led by Percy Lofton, 25-year-old desperado serving life imprisonment for murder, robbery and kidnaping.

Lofton, believed to have been a ringleader in the mass break, had a good prison record, according to officials, and he was among several trusty-guards, armed with rifles and astride horses, who were guarding a crew of some 150 prisoners working in a pea patch on the prison farm.

The mass escape began when more than a dozen of the prisoners made a sudden dash for the guards. Claude Martin, 41, a trusty-guard serving a 15-year term for murder, remained loyal and opened fire with his rifle. He fell in a hail of bullets and was killed. Other guards were overpowered and the escaping convicts fled before the general alarm could be given.

The group, supposedly led by Lofton, commandeered an auto in Gould, the nearest town, and then in succession stole four other cars before reaching Rayville, where the three young people were seized.

By-Products Of Huge Value

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—By-products, once considered practically worthless, last year were valued at $125,000,000, by the steel industry according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Chief of these, recovered in the manufacture of coke for blast furnaces, were gas, tar, crude light oils and chemicals. Part of the yield was used by the steel industry and the rest put on the market.

Leading the by-products in value was gas. Over 510 billion cubic feet, valued at $76,500,000, more than half the year's yield, was produced, the report stated. Some of this was used to heat coke ovens, some in other parts of the mills, and the rest sold.

Others were: Crude light oil, 125 millions gallons, valued at $14,100,000; chemical by-products valued at $9,800,000; "screenings," used in seam boilers, valued at $5,200,000.

Switzerland Has Air Raid Alarms

(International News Service)

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 3—A series of air raid alarms sounded in various Swiss cities and towns during the night, indicating that still more foreign planes, possibly British were flying across the country on bombing missions against enemy territory, officials said today.

Swiss anti-aircraft guns went into action for the second night in succession.

Swiss authorities following an investigation said it had been established that about 20 British bombers had passed over Switzerland enroute to and from Italy last night and early this morning.

North of the Swiss border one British plane was attacked by German defenses.

UNIQUE CLUB IS FORMED BY WIVES OF LEGIONNAIRES

(International News Service)

BOSTON.—Officers of the American Legion, planning the 22nd annual convention in Boston September 23 to 26, had a unique problem handed to them by the wives of a group of Legionnaires at Johnson City, N. Y.

F. A. Johnson Post 758 has a crack drum and bugle corps. The wives of the drummers and buglers became tired of staying at home while their husbands practiced with the drum corps. They formed the "Drum Corps Widows' Club."

Mrs. C. M. Larish, of Binghamton, whose husband is a member of the Johnson drum corps, has notified the Boston Legion Convention Committee that the "Drum Corps Widows' Club" will be in Boston for the national conclave.

Reckless Driver Fifth Columnist Of State Highways

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 3.—The reckless driver was pointed out as "the fifth columnist' of the highways" by Howard D. Gibbs, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, in an appeal for concerted efforts to avoid traffic accidents.

"The reckless driver is selfish and rude, leaving in his wake shattered nerves, twisted wreckage and broken bodies," Gibbs said. "He should be looked upon as the 'fifth columnist' of the highways; his efforts to disrupt peaceful and safe traffic operations stamp him as such."

Gibbs suggested three points for safe driving: "Take your time; be careful and courteous."

Berlin Report Says British Airports Hit

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 3—Bombs of all calibres virtually raked up the British airport at Eastchurch, a German war correspondent reported today in a description of yesterday's bombing raids on southeastern England.

The correspondent claimed that a precisely-aimed series of bombs struck and plunged through all hangars on the field.

Asserting that German fighting planes accompanying the bombers fought off defending pursuit planes, the correspondent wrote:

"I cannot help feeling that the British air defense is slowly crumbling. Too many of their best pursuit planes have been shot down and their youngsters, while gallant, lack experience and have no chance against our veterans."

Chicken And Egg Industry Becomes Big U. S. Business

Farm income from the production of chickens and eggs—once pin money for the farm wife—has developed into a $1,000,000,000-a-year industry, according to a Department of Agriculture survey.

The farm wife still has a heavy interest, but the principal increase has come from its extension on a commercial scale, department officials say.

Poultry raisers and farmers last year sold $636,000,000 worth of chickens and eggs and consumed others with an estimated market value of more than $350,000,000. This was a greater value than either the cotton or wheat crops.

Poultry raisers last year received a cash income of $417,000,000 from the sale of eggs and $219,000,000 from the sale of live chickens, the department said. About $150,000,000 worth of chickens and $200,000,000 worth of eggs were consumed by producers.

Cash income from chickens and eggs has increased steadily since the low point of the depression but still was 40 per cent below 1929 last year. It was, however, 40 per cent above the 1910-1914 average.

Chickens and eggs brought farmers a cash income averaging $454,000,000 in the 1910-1914 period. Production increased only slightly between 1910 and 1920, but prices more than doubled and cash income exceeded $1,000,000,000. Production increased, but prices declined between 1920 and 1929.

FEMALE PAIN

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Termite Battle Is Concluded

Seventh Ward School Building Is Ready For Opening Of Term Wednesday

Superintendent of Public School Buildings, Garfield Ligo, reports that the project of termite extermination at the Mahoning schools has been completed, and that the building is ready for the fall session of school, which opens Wednesday morning. So, it is "back to school" for the boys and girls of the ward, tomorrow morning.

Mr. Ligo states that during the process of the termite eradication, the corps of men, using air compression, drilled over 7000 holes in the wood in the lower rooms, and the stone and cement work, next to the soil, and a chemical inserted under pressure. The exposed surfaces were also sprayed with the potion. Over 6000 "doll pins" were used to close up the holes bored.

This wood treatment made by this company is guaranteed for five years, by National Security Bonds. The Ben Franklin Junior High school received the above treatment, which Mr. Ligo says is quite satisfactory.

Owing to the above work being done this summer, there has been some delay in some of the repair work necessary to the building, which will now be soon completed.

State Ranks First In Production Of Portland Cement

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Sept. 3—Pennsylvania ranks first in the production of slate, crushed limestone, and Portland cement, according to a bulletin of the mineral industries experiment station of the Pennsylvania State College.

Dr. W. M. Meyers, author of the bulletin, said next to coal or petroleum, limestone might be named the state's most useful mineral product because it is indispensible in agriculture, is used as a flux in smelting iron ores, figures in glass-making and in the production of lime and Portland cement.

In 1939 the state's output of slate, Dr. Meyers said, was valued at $3,000,000, almost half of the nation-wide value. Portland cement, which was first produced in Lehigh Valley in 1878, still ranks among Pennsylvania's leading products. In 1938, he said, the state produced one-fifth of the total national output of 105,000,000 barrels.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2¼% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

PENNA. B. E. HENDERSON, PRESIDENT

of $9.75 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month for eighteen months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Same rate to everyone

Installments shown in the table repay everything. These installments include charges at Household's rate of 2¼% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is substantially less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate—the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

Extensive Pilot Training Program Is Planned By Cuba

More Than 4,500 Cuban Civilians Already Have Applied For Technical Instruction

(International News Service)

HAVANA—Cuba plans to train 800 civilian air pilots a year who, after 35 hours of solo flight, will automatically become members of the army aviation reserve, it was revealed here by officials of the National Sports Commission who will open the National Academy of Civil Aviation early in September.

Technical instruction will begin September 15 and actual flying as soon as students are prepared.

More than 4,500 Cubans between the ages 18 and 30 already have applied for training and groups of 200 are to be graduated every three months. Twenty primary trainers and ten fast ships to be used in the course are expected to arrive from the United States.

Instruction will be under the direction of 22 seasoned aviators, most of whom are already army pilots and training will be in Camp Columbia's army air field.

Professional men, college, trade and craft school graduates are to be given preference if they pass the necessary physical examinations and any vacancies remaining will be available to the general public.

EGYPTIAN CALENDAR

Pre-historic Egypt is credited with having evolved the 365-day year. The ancient Egyptians divided the year into 12 months of 30 days each, with five feast days at the end of the year. It was not until Alexander's time, however, that accurate account was also taken of the extra day in leap years.

Cancer is increasing and is now the second leading cause of death in the United States.

RHODESIAN MAN

Rhodesian man is a term applied to men whose existence is inferred from a skeleton unearthed at Broken Hill Mine, North Rhodesia, in 1921. These men are believed to have been contemporary with Neanderthal man, but with somewhat smaller brain capacity. The individual found was five feet 10 inches in height. Many of its facial characteristics were gorilla-like, but its teeth were distinctively human.

Grove City Hi Is Here Friday To Open Season

New Castle Will Have But Three Veterans In Starting Lineup—McKee, Morgan, Roberts

WEEK IN CAMP WAS BENEFICIAL

The New Castle high football schedule gets under way Friday night at Taggart Stadium at 8 o'clock with Grove City high furnishing the opposition.

The New Castle boys are back from camp and are holding daily workouts at Taggart field. There have been some merry fights for the various varsity jobs. In the New Castle starting lineup for Friday night there will be but three boys who were on the varsity team last year—Freddy McKee at quarter, and doing the blocking, Larry Roberts at a half-back post and Warren Morgan at center.

The starting lineup is still in doubt, it was announced by Coach Bridenbaugh today. The possible starters are: Bucci and Pugh at the ends, Temenski and Audino at the tackles, Adamo and Jerry at the guards, Morgan at center.

Good Backfield

The backfield will have McKee at quarter, Roberts and Ciazza at the halves and either Joe Izzo or Dick Biddle at the fullback post. Others who may break into the game at any time are Masters and Scarazzo at the tackles, Tomalello and Gunn at the ends, and Parou also at end.

The week at camp was highly beneficial. Despite the inclement weather, quite a bit was accomplished. The boys have the fundamentals down rather well. This week will find the coaches ironing out the kinks. There is only a short time to get the boys ready for the lid-lifter.

Grove City high will bring a big fast team here. Like New Castle, they will have but three lettermen in the starting lineup. The new Grove City high coach is Gene Parker, who was an assistant under Joe [illegible]man, who has gone to Franklin, Pa.

Season tickets for the game here Friday are selling well at the Sporting Goods Store at their new location, 105 North Mercer street. Just when the general admission goes on sale was not disclosed, possibly by Wednesday morning.

Managers Will Meet Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph Parish hall, the managers and officials of the City Baseball league will have their final meeting of the year. Rev. Fr. Peter Schirra will conduct the meeting.

The Lawrence Indies are the 1940 champions. The franchise money will be returned to the managers by Treasurer Michael "Jake" Babovsky. The finala meeting tonight will see all business of the year transacted.

The matter of a league banquet will be up for discussion. The league in its four years has never had an official loop dinner, and the idea is being advanced by a few of the boys.

Allegheny College Gridders To Start On September 11

Yanks Threaten Lead Of Indians

Yankees Get Holiday Split With Athletics As Indians And Tigers Drop Two

By ED KIELY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—With the 1940 Labor Day double-headers duly docketed in the record book, the most significant factors on the baseball scene today were:

1. The American league pennant race is still a wide open affair, and

2. The New York Yankees—the team on which everybody gave up, except possibly the Yankees themselves, as early as last July—were now in second place, three and one-half games behind the front-running Cleveland Indians.

The Yankees moved into second place yesterday by splitting a double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 3 and 3 to 0, while the Detroit Tigers dropped a twin bill to the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1 and 4 to 0.

Indians Blow Two

Johnny Babich halted New York's recent spurt at eight straight games by shutting out the world's champions in the nightcap. The White Sox, who have been a jinx to Detroit all year, beat Buck Newsom in the opener and Johnny Rigney stopped them on two hits in the nightcap.

Meanwhile, the Indians blew a twin bill to the lowly St. Louis Browns, 2 to 1 and 3 to 0. Pitcher Vernon Kennedy was the star in the opener, allowing seven hits, making three hits and figuring in both scoring plays. In the nightcap, Eldon Auker baffled the tribe with his freak delivery.

Washington took two from Boston, winning the first 1 to 0 in 13 innings and the nightcap, which was halted in the sixth because of darkness, 5 to 4. Rookie Sid Hudson outpitched the veteran Lefty Grove in the prolonged opener.

In the National league the holiday ended as it began with the Cincinnati Reds in first place by 7½ games.

Apparently in no hurry to clinch the flag, the Reds divided a double-header with the St. Louis Cardinals, winning the opener, 2 to 1, and dropping the nightcap, 7 to 4.

Rookie Has Big Day

Brooklyn stopped Boston with a 6 to 2 victory in the second game of a twin bill after the Bees had captured the first game in 11 innings, 7 to 6.

A five-run rally in the eighth, featured by Bill Nicholson's homer, gave the Chicago Cubs a 7 to 1 second game after Rip Sewell pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5 to 2 victory in the opener.

Danny Litwhiler, recently recalled from the minors, had a field day as the Philadelphia Phillies dumped the New York Giants, 11 to 2 and 6 to 5 in a ten-inning nightcap. Litwhiler in two games garnered six hits, including a homer with the bases loaded, a triple, a double and three singles and drove in eight runs.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Wampum Medusa and White Sox will combine to play the Lawrence Independents of the City Baseball league at Wampum this evening. All proceeds of the game will go to "Fox" Kosior, who was injured while sliding into base recently. Both teams will present their strongest line-ups and a big crowd is anticipated.

Ammon Kelchner, 28, of Lebanon, was killed Labor Day afternoon when the steering gear of his racing car went bad. His machine crashed into the railing and was virtually demolished. Kelchner was in third place in the 30-lap feature when the accident occurred. Duke Dinsmore, Dayton, O., was leading when the race was called off. Rex Mays of Glendale, Cal., won the 100-mile national auto championship race at Syracuse yesterday. Lou Webb of Los Angeles, lost his life when his car careened into Kelly Petillo's car on the seventeenth lap. Webb was dead when he reached a hospital. At Langhorne, Pr., Ed. Kretz of Wilmar, Cal., roared to victory in the 100-mile national motorcycle championship race. George Matheson, 32 of Paterson, N. J., was killed when his motorcycle skidded on the turn coming into the stretch on the second lap.

Byron Nelson defeated Snead one up to win the P.G.A. title at Hershey, Labor Day. . . . Nashville clinched the pennant by defeating Little Rock in a twin bill, 4-3 and 10-2 in the Southern Association, yesterday. . . . Charlie Burley and Jimmy Bivins, both colored, fight tonight at Millvale. . . . Henry Armstrong will be given a guarantee of $25,000 by Art Rooney and the Dapper Dan club to defend his welterweight title against Fritzie Zivic at Pittsburgh late this month.

SUFFERS BROKEN LEG

Injuries are already hounding the McKeesport High grid team. Saturday Walter Harr 18, a candidate for the varsity had the misfortune to fracture his left leg in a scrimmage session. He will be out for the biggest part of the year no doubt. He is now in McKeesport hospital. McKeesport plays here on the night of October 11.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sport notes scribbled on an idle day:—Paul McCullough, who has been fiddling 'round baseball for nearly two decades, ran into a new one recently. He won and yet he lost. He tossed the E. S. Civics (Youngstown) to a 4-2 victory over the Youngstown Sheet & Tube, giving up but three hits. The game was awarded to the Tube outfit because the Civics used ineligible players!. . .

Russell Baxter's pugilistic stock zoomed sky high following a sparkling decision over Andy Benesh, slicker from Youngstown. In annexing another victory to his long list, the tall, slim blond scored a hit with Farrell fans. Since getting his card in the simon-pure bracket, Baxter has suffered but one setback. Russ will see action in the next local production, probably on September 16. .

U. C. L. A. will have its smoothest grid machine for what looms as one of the toughest collegiate schedules in the land. The coast club, spearheaded by Jack Robinson, has plenty of flashy backs, plus an array of big and experienced line men. . . . Is Pitt going to have a team? You'd hardly think so from the publicity emanating from the Smoky City. . . .

In less than two weeks, Pennsylvania's collegiate grid campaign starts with Geneva battling Youngstown College. . . . A lot of the boys say that Slippery Rock has a 50-50 chance of equaling last season's mark. As you recall, the Rockets finished the drive unbeaten and untied, the only college in the state able to boast of such a mark. Slippery Rock scored 220 points against 20 for their foes. . . .

After peering into the financial side of baseball, it's safe to guess that Uncle Sammy's lovers of the diamond sport will lay about $30,000,000 on the line by the time tarpaulins are rolled over the fields. . . Cleveland's city fathers feel that the blue classic is in. Plans are well underway for series. Wouldn't it be a crime if the "tattle-tales" should blow the banner? . . .

New Castle High's grid outfit will race onto the sod of Taggart Stadium, Friday night, attired in new snappy raiment. From what we have been told, the new uniforms will present the proverbial eye-arresting appeal. Per-usual, the "Hurricane" gridders will rank as one of the 'dressiest' high school clubs in the land. . . .

Ellwood City Leading Race

Captures First Two Games From Bessemer In County Flag Fight

Ellwood City is two games ahead of Bessemer in the race for the championship of the Lawrence County Baseball league, having won the inaugural at Bessemer, 6 to 1, and also having copped again at Ellwood City, 3 to 1. The first game was played Sunday and the second, Labor Day. The third clash will be played next Sunday at Bessemer.

Ellwood City scored their first run of the second game in the first frame and scored twice in the fourth. Franus chalked up two runs and Ferrucci also scored.

A total of 23 hits were made yesterday. Miller and Snyder were the opposing hurlers. W. Stanley and Smith delivered two-base clouts.

Jean Webster Is Ladies Champion At Castle Hills

Defeats Mrs. Russell Magill In Championship Match, Shoots 84 Card

Miss Jean Webster, 711 Young street, is the new ladies golf champion at the Castle Hills course, having won her title by defeating Mrs. Russell Magill before a large gallery on Labor Day afternoon. Miss Webster shot a very brilliant round of 84, against a 92 for her opponent.

At the end of the first nine holes Miss Webster held a four-up lead. Playing consistent golf all the way, the new champion deserved to win.

Miss Webster had a 40 card for the front nine. Her putting was short of sensational. . . . Mrs. Magill is a fine goifer but could not match the wizardy of the clubs as displayed by her younger opponent. The match ended on the 13th green, with Miss Webster getting a deafening round of applause from the gallery.

Byron Nelson PGA Champion

Defeats Sammy Snead At Hershey In Great Match, Nelson Gets "Hot"

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

HERSHEY, Pa., Sept. 3.—Sam Snead of Virginia, stood on the 16th tee here yesterday peering at the Blue Ridge Mountains off in the distance, justifiably confident that he finally was about to win a major golf championship. This was on the afternoon round of his 36-hole final with Byron Nelson for the national title. Snead had just fired three birdies in a row, then a par to stand one up as they thus moved into the 34th hole of the match.

He was riding the crest of one of the greatest rounds of golf ever played, and seemingly couldn't be stopped. Then the one thing Snead might have feared—although he didn't show it—happened to sweep him to defeat. Nelson lifted his game as only Nelson can, and Snead's finest, most resolute and most spectacular bid was swept aside as Byron went on to a one-up victory.

Nelson Great Shot

Those last three holes proved that Nelson everlastingly must be remembered as one of golf's toughest men and greatest iron players, but to Snead the important thing was that he proved he could take it in the rough going, a point about which there had been some doubt. Nelson had to win this one. Snead didn't blow up as he has done in two straight open championships and as he did in the P. G. A. final at Shawnee, Pa., in 1938, when he met Paul Runyan.

Snead shot a forenoon par 73 to go two down to Nelson's 71, then bounced back with a second round 68 to Nelson's 70.

With that Snead probably matched golf's all-time greatest losing rounds. If you can stay close to a guy with par, then can't win with five under, there isn't anything you can do about it other than what Snead did: Simply shake your head sadly and walk away.

Snead was tough this time when he proved his toughness, but Nelson was tougher and that, in a few words, is the story of a golf match which won't be duplicated soon with such high stakes riding on the outcome. As Nelson said afterward:

"If Snead had got a couple of breaks he would have licked me, and, in any case, this was the hardest match I ever played."

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 3—Apparently stricken with a heart attack, Peter Redick, aged 30, of Millvale, Pa., died on Sunday afternoon at about 4 o'clock while swimming in the Connoquenessing creek, at Fombell.

The Pennsylvania Power company at Zelienople, and the rescue squad of the local fire department answered a call for aid and using the rescue squad's new resuscitator worked with the victim for more than two hours in a futile effort to revive him. Doctors, who aided with the work, said he had suffered a heart attack.

Camping near the creek for the holiday week-end with Millvale man, his companions said, had gone into the water a few minutes before he was stricken. Said to have been a good swimmer, he had taken his small niece across the creek on his back and was returning when he called for help and disappeared under the water. Friends of the man found the body in about five minutes and immediately began administering artificial respiration.

The victim, who was not married, resided at Millvalle with his mother. The body was removed to the Zeigler funeral home at Zelienople.

FROM ME TO YOU

Well, that's that . . . the last holiday of the summer season . . . now to get ready to enjoy fall . . . school starts and we are more or less settled down in a regular routine after a three months of coming and going everywhere . . . the summer wasn't just what we might have ordered if we had had the privilege but it was nice . . . we at least didn't have to run and hide in air raid shelters. We hope that we never have that experience . . . but let's talk about more pleasant subjects . . . like canning . . . yes peaches, tomatoes and a host of other things that will make fall and winter worth living . . . and football.

The football season opens up here on Friday night at eight o'clock . . . with the New Castle team meeting Grove City . . . from all reports this will be a real battle as Grove City is coming to win . . . the Local team will have a new line with almost a veteran backfield . . . we hope they have a very successful backfield . . . and "Ma" where is my topcoat and while you are looking you might dig out a blanket or two . . . the football season is on its way.

* * *

Yesterday ended our camping season . . . it was sort of hard to break up camp . . . but it's nice to get home . . . that's what we like about going away . . . it's nice to come home . . . so until another season, camping and camp talk is over.

* * *

The street department have been working like Beavers this summer . . . a good many streets have been paved and a good job has been done. Some day every street of any importance will be nice and smooth . . . some day the main streets will be smooth, we hope . . . and maybe some day the viaduct down south New Castle way will be opened for traffic . . . we are wondering what will happen to traffic when Cherry street gets so bad that cars won't be able to travel it . . . and if it keeps going like it has in the past two weeks, it won't be long until it will be too bad to travel.

* * *

A lot of people, about one hundred and fifty have taken advantage of the low sidewalk cost and will soon be proudly showing off their new smoothness . . . it will make it nice to shovel snow this winter . . . no bumps to snag the shovel.

Legal Notice

In Re: Petition of Odetta Bird Patterson for the Satisfaction of a mortgage from John Davidson and Maria Davidson to Robert Stinson or his heirs-at-law or the holder or holders of said mortgage.

Take notice that Odetta Bird Patterson on August 1940, presented her petition at No. 37 September Term, 1940, M. D. to the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, setting forth that she was the owner of a certain tract of land in Little Beaver Township, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, upon which a predecessor in title, Maria Davidson, while she owned the same, together with her husband, John Davidson, to-wit: on July 15, 1858, made executed and delivered to Robert Stinson their certain mortgage covering said lands situate as aforesaid; bounded on the North by Wm. Reed and James McCance; East by Alex Sulivan; South by Gotlieb Bonest and Joseph Thomas and West by Woodruff's Heirs, containing Seventy-three (73) acres, more or less; said mortgage being for the sum of One thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars, payable on or before July 15, 1858, and remains unsatisfied of record in the Recorder's Office of said Lawrence county in Mortgage Book, Volume 1, page 362.

That a period of more than twenty (20) years having elapsed since the said due date, there is a legal presumption of payment of said mortgage and the petitioner prayed the Court to make an Order directing that satisfaction be entered on the record of said mortgage which said satisfaction so entered shall forever thereafter discharge said mortgage and bar all actions thereon. And it appearing that the mortgagee or holder or holders of said mortgage can not be found, the Court has directed this notice to be published in the New Castle News, a newspaper published within Lawrence county, requiring you to appear at said Term and answer the petition aforesaid.

Market Opens With Flurry Of Activity Following Holiday Period

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The stock market today started its post-holiday session with a flurry of activity and a rise in prices but trading quieted down later, and gains running to a point and more were pared by mid-day. A few issues showed net losses on the day.

Steel shares were in early demand, with U. S. Steel rising over a point and Bethlehem a point. The latter slipped later, going under the previous close.

Chrysler started fractionally higher and then moved up for a gain of almost 2 points. It lost part of this later. General Motors turned easy.

Wright Aeronautical, spectacular performer of the two preceding sessions, gained nearly 3 points more. Other aviations were strong and active, with Douglas up over 2 at its high. American Airlines was a backward exception.

Coppers were fractionally better. Gains in chemicals ran to a point in Allied. Rails and utilities improved, with the former active. Fajardo was up a point in the sugars.

Youthful Offenders Prove Biggest Problem

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3—Increases in four classifications of serious offenses against society—as well as an increase in crime among women—was recorded today by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the first six months of 1940.

The G-Men reported increases of 6.5 per cent in aggravated assault; 5.2 per cent in larceny; 4.2 per cent in manslaughter by negligence, and 1.2 percent in automobile theft.

Women, the bureau reported, were responsible for 8.2 per cent of the arrests made in this country in the first six months of the year, whereas only 7.1 per cent of the arrests during the same period last year were women.

Optimistic Note

Probably the most optimistic note of the report was the fact that although 18,631 automobiles were stolen during the first half of the year, 18,113—97.2 per cent—were recovered. The stolen automobiles were valued at $8,214,319.89.

On the other hand, the bureau was also able to report decreases in certain types of crime for the first half of 1940. There was a drop of 6.4 per cent in murders, 5.4 per cent in rapes and 3.3 per cent in robberies.

A comparison of an average group of males arrested with an average group of women showed that the women were charged more frequently with murder, assault, use of narcotic drugs and liquor violations than the men.

The men, however, exceeded the women in crimes against property, such as robbery, burglary and automobile theft.

Youth Leads

Bearing out indications made earlier in the year, the G-Men stated that persons 19 years of age were most frequently taken into custody. This group was closely followed by those 21, 22, 23 and 18 years old.

"While fluctuations are to be expected," the bureau said, "it is interesting to note that age 19 has led in the majority of the compilations of htis nature since 1932."

There were 52,534—about 17.6 per cent—youthful offenders arrested during the first six months of 1940 under 21 years of age, according to the figures released by the G-Men. In all, at least 99,331 persons arrested were under 25 years old.

As to repeaters, the bureau had this to say:

"The extent to which persons of criminal tendencies continue to violate the law is indicated by the fact that almost one-half of the persons arrested during the first half of 1940 had previously been fingerprinted and cards covering them were on file with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"In addition, there were 3,492 current records received containing references to past criminal activities although no fingerprint cards were in file prior to 1940."

Some delay was occasioned when the petition asking for a new bridge over the Neshannock Creek at Mercer street was started. It developed that the particular site where the bridge approach would be has never been ordained as a street by the city, although the city owns the ground.

Before the court can appoint viewers, the council must ordain a street and this will probably be done. After the viewers are appointed, their findings are taken before the grand jury, and that body passes upon the idea. Finally it becomes the duty of the county commissioners to decide whether or not they will spend the money necessary for a bridge.

A number of estimated prices have been cited for the proposed bridge most of them under the estimate of the state engineers. They estimate $160,000 for the bridge and $50,000 for the approaches. To this must be added an engineering fee which would add perhaps $10,000 to the cost.

Cupid must be in fine form these days or else is working overtime. The rush on the marriage license bureau seems to be increasing instead of decreasing. The average age seems to be less than what it has been in past years. No one can prove that the rush is due directly to the conscription bill now pending in the House of Representatives, but it seems more than just coincidental.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 3.—Republican registration lists in Pennsylvania have been increased approximately by 33,000 names while the Democratic party has lost about the same number. The gain reflects the usual trend which occurs when one major party takes state leadership from the other. Present enrollment roughly is 2,583,000 Republicans and 2,036,400 Democrats. G. O. P. leaders have announced plans to add 500,000 names to their list which would push Republican registration over the 3,000,000 mark. Democratic vote-getters will make a drive for unregistered persons and new voters but have not set any definite goal. An all-time high of 4,000,000 votes was cast in 1936 in Pennsylvania in the Roosevelt-Landon contest.

Although the Republicans opened the 1936 presidential campaign with 600,205 more voters than their opponents, the Democrats carried Pennsylvania by 663,448. The Democratic party won its majority from Republicans who voted for Mr. Roosevelt. G. O. P. leaders assert their followers will not repeat their 1936 performance while Democratic chieftains claim that if Republicans cut their ticket to vote for Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936 they will do it again in 1940. Significant, however, is the fact that Democratic leaders do not claim they will carry Pennsylvania by the overwhelming majority they enjoyed in 1936. Privately they admit that the nomination of Wendell Willkie has marred their chances of sweeping the state with Roosevelt so decisively as they did four years ago.

The recent death of Charles A. Ambler, Montgomery, former insurance commissioner and later speaker of the house, recalled a contest in 1915 when Vare leaders of Philadelphia challenged the organization bossed by Bois Penrose. Ambler, who had the support of the Vares, opposed Edwin R. Cox, Philadelphia, backed by Penrose. The battle became bitter and on the night the house caucused it was necessary to post guards at the doors and only those with proper credentials were allowed inside. Ambler defeated Cox on the roll call. Cox later became president of the Philadelphia city council and now is municipal director of wharves, docks and ferries.

The department of agriculture gets strange requests from all over the state. Latest came from a child asking for information on "sunning." Other requests have been: "How many people in Pennsylvania believe it a superstition about being ill luck to walk under a ladder?" "Please send all the information on horse flies you have." "Send me a formula for re-silvering a mirror." One writer urged prompt action in asking for a sure cure flea killing substance. A patient in a Lancaster hospital asked for all booklets on agriculture.

The rainy weather worked hardship on Capitol Hill squirrels, holding to a minimum the number of visitors who feed them peanuts. Casual passerbys are sometimes astonished to see several squirrels hopping toward them and sitting on their rear legs begging for nuts.

An increase in average octane rating of third-grade gasolines over that of the previous summer is shown in the gasoline survey report for the summer of 1939.
